Key claims insights by age

CLAIMS FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31 DECEMBER 2021

20-29

- With youth on their side, there is less need to claim, but getting covered early means cover can be more affordable and inclusive in the long run.
- More likely to claim on their life cover because of an accident.
- Health insurance provides essential support, as it does for all age groups.

30-39

- Income protection becomes increasingly important as they take on added responsibilities, such as buying a house or starting a family.
- Cancer is the main reason under-40s will need to claim on their critical illness and life insurance policies.
- Injuries and mental health problems are major causes of income loss.

40-49

- There is a significant increase in trauma and life insurance claims, for which cancer is the main cause.
- At this time of life, having their income continue when they're unable to work due to injury or illness is invaluable.
- The forty-somethings receive significant financial support through income protection.

50-59

- The chance of serious illness at this age increases significantly – adding tremendous value to their life, critical illness and income protection cover.
- Cancer is an ever-growing risk, and accounts for around half of all life, income protection and critical illness claims.

60-69

- As we get older health issues are more common.
- The sixty-somethings may have less call for income protection, but they account for the second highest claims total for life and health insurance.
- Critical illness cover also continues to provide valuable protection to folks nearing retirement.

70+

- Health insurance remains important, and life insurance claims still provide invaluable support.
- Quality of life, and looking out for those who really matter, are important at any age.
